

BUILDING

SHARE

5 Questions With AHV Communities CEO Mark Wolf

As founder and CEO, Wolf believes the next five years will separate the BTR trailblazers from the visitors.

4 MIN READ

By Leah Draffen

April 3, 2026

While navigating a lack of capital confidence and cautious development, Mark Wolf, CEO and founder of AHV Communities, is pressing ahead in the built-to-rent (BTR) sector.

The current climate—and buzz from Washington’s housing bill that passed the Senate—has shaken the industry, but

Close

Register for free or log in to continue reading this article.

Plus, gain unlimited access to BUILDER articles and newsletter for free.

About the Author

Leah Draffen

Leah Draffen is an associate editor at Builder. She earned a B.A. in journalism and minors in business administration and sociology from Louisiana State University.

RELATED TOPICS

SHARE

SUBJECT

build-to-rent Policy Build-to-Rent

Policy and Regulation

More from Builder Magazine

A Pivotal Moment for BTR Regulation

3 MIN READ

IBHS Takes Wildfire Prepared Program to 10 More States

2 MIN READ

Home Builders Institute Helps Train More Than 20,000 Students in 2025

4 MIN READ